

Introduction

Aeries.net is one piece of the Aeries Student Information System Solution. This Web-based application is designed to provide school and district administrators easy access to the information they need without the need to have client software installed on their local workstation.

The screenshot displays the Aeries.net interface for the 2011-2012 Eagle Unified School District. The main content area shows a student profile for Bald Eagle Intermediate School. The student's name is Alan Aaron Abbott, with a student ID of 1 and a permanent ID of 99300001. The interface includes a navigation menu on the left with categories like Student Flags, My Favorites, Student Data, Demographics, Supplemental, Contacts, Attendance, Enrollment, Grades, Guidance, Test Scores, Medical, Scheduling, Programs, Other, Reports, Attendance Accounts, Grade Reporting, Standards Based Grac, Supplemental Attend, and Scheduling Process. The student data is organized into several tables:

Below the student data, there are sections for Student Demographics, Parent/Guardian information, and various school-related fields like Counselor, Locker, and Language. At the bottom, there are buttons for Change, Delete, Print Withdrawal Form, and Print.

Flexible Solutions

Aeries.net is not a replacement for the Aeries Client Software, but rather an extension of functionality that can address the needs of certain school and district administrators through an easy to use, yet feature-rich, web-based application.

Eagle Software, through the development and offering of the various applications that encompass the Aeries Student Information System Solution, gives districts the flexibility to choose how they interact with their student data. Aeries.net is a separate application, layered on top of traditional Aeries to provide additional features and an ease of administration that can only be found with a web-based application.

Expanding Data Management Opportunities

The ongoing development focus for Aeries.net is to create a feature-rich web-based solution that is easy to use and meets the needs of school and district administrative staff. Aeries sets a very high standard for SIS applications and Aeries.net expands on that capability to add additional flexibility, scalability, and mobility to the software. Aeries.net supports the mobility of today's school and district staff. Nurses, counselors, curriculum specialists, coaches and other staff who frequently move from school to school or building to building to do their job can access their student data through Aeries.net from any network-connected computer. Most importantly, the features in Aeries.net can eliminate the need to install and maintain the traditional Aeries client software on every administrative computer in the district.

Leading Edge Technologies

In order to provide the best user environment for users of Aeries.net, the system takes advantage of Microsoft's ASP.NET 3.5 framework. This allows for seamless integration with MS SQL 2005 or 2008 for maintaining the highest level of performance and stability. Additional technologies like Silverlight, AJAX, and Multi-Threaded Processing create a unique solution that excels at providing the best possible Web Interface and scalable solution.
